Becoming an Age-Friendly Community

Being an Age-Friendly Community is an ongoing journey that views all aspects of community through the lens of older adults, for the benefit of all ages.

Learn How Your Community Can:

- form a local team to lead the initiative which includes older adult leadership and participation
- gain the support of local municipalities
- conduct an assessment of your community's needs and resources
- create plans to take action toward becoming more Age-Friendly

Wendy Thienes is the Age-Friendly Saskatchewan Communities Staff person with SSM (Saskatchewan Seniors Mechanism), supporting current and potential Age-Friendly Communities across the province. She lives in Shaunavon where she chaired an Aging in Place task force in 2021 whose work led to the development of Age-Friendly Shaunavon. Wendy is also a member of a Steering Committee of the Town of Shaunavon, overseeing the implementation of a social prescribing pilot initiative in that community.
